PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Employment relationships in Pakistan operate within a complex environment shaped by labour laws, industrial relations practices, regulatory oversight, and evolving workforce expectations. Organizations today must balance legal compliance with fair employment practices, productivity, and workforce stability.

The Diploma in Employment Law and Industrial Relations is designed to equip professionals with a practical and structured understanding of Pakistan's labour and employment framework, enabling them to manage workplace issues, industrial relations, and compliance with confidence.

PROGRAM COVERAGE

Key areas covered in the diploma include:

- Overview of Pakistan's Labor and Employment Law Framework
- Employment Contracts, Terms, and Conditions of Service
- Industrial Relations Laws and Trade Union Practices
- Wages, Benefits, Working Hours, and Workplace Policies
- Termination, Separation, and Disciplinary Procedures
- Workplace Disputes, Grievance Handling, and Legal Remedies
- Role of Labor Courts, Authorities, and Inspectors
- Compliance, Ethics, and Contemporary Employment Challenges

The curriculum emphasizes practical application of labour laws, supported by regional case discussions and examples relevant to Pakistani workplaces.
