LEARNING OUTCOMES

CDRFI aim to strengthen the technical understanding of CDRFI solutions and spur an effective collaboration between civil society organizations, governments and private sector stakeholders at the national and international level.

This course will give you a strong realization that insurance can play very important role in climate and disaster risk transfer and financing.

By the end of the course, learners should have more resources to engage in a meaningful and critical way in CDRFI programs.

“Everything about their workshop was near to perfection, faculty was well prepared and addressed our queries up to our satisfaction, material shared was very helpful. My expectations were definitely met.”
